

European Network of Outdoor Centres

A network to promote the value of Outdoor Education Centres for lifelong learning and to develop professional standards and diversity through sharing good practice across Europe.

About ENOC

Background

ENOC was founded as a special interest group under the umbrella of the European Institute for Outdoor Adventure and Experiential Learning (EOE) by Brathay Trust (UK), bsj Marburg (GER), CŠOD (SLO) and Metsäkartano (FIN). EOE is a network of professionals that includes social youth workers, teachers & educators, academics and students. The Institute exists to advance the field of outdoor education through network building, research and good practice.

ENOC activities & potentials

Strategic Partnerships

2018-2020: Aesthetic Approaches to Outdoor Learning

A strategic partnership project (Erasmus+) which focused on aesthetic education in outdoor education centres. As a result, the partners developed a best practice handbook combining a collection of activities with articles introducing aesthetic thinking and potentials of different approaches. Best practice activities were also shared between professionals of outdoor centres during a one week "train the trainer"-seminar. More information and handbook-download under: www.eoe-network.eu/enoc/

Job Shadowing

The partners support professional development through a philosophy of reflective and shared practice and encourage insights and mobility across Europe. ENOC values job shadowing: It allows you into the working life of your peers or professional working in a different center, country or situation. It gives insight into different pedagogies, philosophies, employers and organisational cultures within the outdoor learning world.

Youth Meetings

Outdoor centres have excellent opportunities for the implementation of youth meetings across Europe with a focus on outdoor and adventure education with groups of different ages and backgrounds. As part of ENOC you can get support, find partners and develop worthwhile youth mobility experiences.
